'VARSITY DEFEATS MCGILL FOR FIRST TIME IN TWO SEASONS BY SCORE OF 13--7 IN HOTLY CONTESTED FIXTURE

Kicking Of Blue and White Squad Mainly Responsible For Their Victory — McGill's Line Plunges Very Successful — Nearly Turned Defeat Into a Win — Taylor, Breen and MacKenzie Starred For Toronto — Baillie, Nicholson, Parkins, Anderson and Flanagan for McGill — Huge Crowd Of Spectators Viewed Contest From Every Possible Vantage Point.

For the first time in two seasons the McGill Rugby squad met defeat on Saturday afternoon, when the Toronto 'Varsity fourteen, playing on its own stadium, kicked its way to a 13 to 7 victory over Coach Shaughnessy's Red and White squad in one of the most gruelling games witnessed in intercollegiate Rugby for several years. From the time the Blue and White scored the first point early in the initial quarter, Laddie Cassells' players maintained their lead, but with difficulty, for in the latter stages of the game the red-sweated fourteen staged a fierce attack on the 'Varsity line, which was in danger on several occasions, but disaster was averted by the clever playing of the 'Varsity backs, and especially by the strong kicking of Taylor, the Blue and White centre half, who was the bright star in the afternoon's play.

Approximately 14,000 spectators witnessed the struggle between the two teams, and the seating capacity of the stadium was taxed to the limit to accommodate the supporters of both squads who flocked from far and near that they might root for their respective favorites. The big rosters' stand was crowded with 3,000 rosters half an hour before the teams appeared on the field, and by the time the officials sounded the whistle that started the match every available seat on the grounds had been filled, an overflow crowd had lined the fence three or four deep at each end of the gridiron, while all vantage points on neighboring buildings were occupied by enthusiasts who were bound to see the mighty battle one way or another. A feature of the crowd was the Ladies' Rooters Club of 'Varsity which, 500 strong, occupied the centre section of the bleachers, and besides joining in on all the yells and songs of the club as a whole, had one or two special features of its own, which drew rounds of applause from the grandstand opposite.

Following the win, 'Varsity supporters went gyrating across the field in a victory dance; a parade was formed 2,000 strong which, led by a band, marched twice around the campus and then, as in former years, proceeded out through the gates and down into the city. Victory was sweet to the 'Varsity supporters, who now look towards the championship.

McGill was well represented in the stands by a faithful band of about 500 rooters, the majority of them graduates who had come from distant parts to cheer for the Red and White, and who could not help but look with a certain air of reverence upon the McGill squad, as outplayed by the 'Varsity aggregation; it fought pluckily to the last minute in an effort to stem the tide and turn defeat into victory.

Toronto was the first to enter the scoring sheets, when MacKenzie got in a long punt early in the first period, and Flanagan was forced to rouse. Before the initial period had concluded, Flanagan was again forced to concede 'Varsity a point on a long kick by Taylor. McGill opened the second quarter by forcing MacKenzie to rouse after catching a long boot from Flanagan, but the Red and White soon lost position, when Toronto ran up four more points before half time, Flanagan being forced across the line for a safety touch after Taylor had kicked the ball to the McGill ten yard line, and twice the star kicking half of the 'Varsity squad booted the piskin across the dead-line with a sturdy toe.

With the score 6 to 1 against them at the beginning of the third period, the McGill players took the field ready to make a strong bid for the leading position, but despite their strenuous efforts were unable to break through the strong 'Varsity line, while the Blue and White succeeded in gaining one more point on a rouse and in bringing its total up to 12, when on successive bucks by MacKenzie, Wallace and Carew, the piskin was brought to the McGill fifteen yard line. Carew again went through to the Red and White five yard chalk mark, and on the first down went over the McGill line for a try, which play resulted in the wildest scenes of enthusiasm among the 'Varsity supporters.

'Varsity's score jolted the McGill squad into further determined action, and after two successive bucks for yards Flanagan kicked to Breen, who passed to MacKenzie, and the big right half of the 'Varsity squad essayed a running kick, the piskin going into the touch at the 'Varsity thirty yard line. On the third down Flanagan attempted a drop kick at goal, but the ball hit into the scrum-mage and, bounding back, was gathered in by Jeff Russell, who ran it to 'Varsity's ten yard line. On the third down Notman bucked through for a try. Criticism has been levelled at the officials for allowing the McGill squad to maintain possession of the ball after Flanagan's kick on the third down failed to cross the scrum-mage, but it has been pointed out that Russell made yards on the run prior to the game, the decision of the officials was quite in order and according to an understanding reached prior to the game, the decision of the officials was quite in order and according to the rules agreed to.

The score made by the McGill men added "pep" to their play, and the manner in which the Red and White-shirted brigade forced the 'Varsity line for a time had the Blue and White supporters yelling "Hold that line, 'Varsity," with a good deal of apprehension. Despite the valiant efforts of the McGill squad in the last period, the relative standing of the two teams was not changed, each managing only to gain a point on rouses. At one stage in this quarter the Red and White had 'Varsity in a dangerous corner, when they carried the ball to its twenty-five yard line with a vim that could not be checked. A converted try would have meant a tied score, but Breen essayed a kick which hit into the scrum-mage, and the ball bounced forward, to be gathered in by Rolph, the 'Varsity outside, who ran the ball out of danger, much to the relief of the Toronto contingent, and the disappointment of the McGill rooters, who saw chances of a last minute win looming up on the horizon. SECOND "SING" WELL ATTENDED

Joint Meetings To Be Held Monthly Of Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

The Sunday night sing at Strathcona Hall was quite well attended, in spite of the rain. There were about a score of the R.V.C. girls present and a much larger number of men students. There was no lack of vocalists apparently, for the singing was very well sustained. Mr. McLean, president of the McGill Y.M.C.A., announced that there would be a joint meet of the McGill Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. next Sunday at the same hour, in the reading-room at the Hall. These joint meetings are held once every month to discuss the work and ideals of both bodies. After about a dozen hymns had been sung, an intermission was called, while coffee and cake were served to all. During this, the orchestra arrived, consisting of Amaron, McLaren, the Hutton boys (on the violin), and Anderson (on the piccolo). Miss MacKenzie accompanied. After several selections by the orchestra, several more hymns were sung. The assembly then sang "Hail, Alma Mater" and "God Save the King," after which they dispersed.

GENERAL BOOTH COMING. General Bramwell Booth, who landed at New York Saturday from the Mauretania, will be in Montreal on Wednesday and Thursday next, and will be given a civic welcome at Windsor Street Station at 6.45 p.m., Wednesday. On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock he will deliver his lecture on "Lessons From My Father's Life," when Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor will preside. General Bramwell Booth represents the spirit of the Salvation Army in the 20th century, as his father, its founder, did in the 19th century. He will have a message for every thinker who studies the problems of the present day.

LIKELY TO BE A SHIRT SCARCITY

Notman Leads Way To Solve H. C. of L.

Jeff Notman carries a contented smile these days, for he has learned one way to partially solve the student's most harassing problem, the high-cost-of-living, and shortly we can expect to see the big line-smasher strolling up the hill to the Stadium bedecked in the latest style of negligee shirts.

Doing their bit to help the McGill team to victory, J. H. Blumenthal Son, Limited, offered a silk shirt to every McGill player who crossed the 'Varsity line, and Jeff did it. Now the big fellow hopes the offer will stand, for in the game with 'Varsity here on November 6, he intends to lay in his entire winter's supply. More power to the "barge" Notman. We wonder if Blumenthals will have to make a special size for the husky line-man.

CHESS CLUB TO MEET TO-NIGHT

Tournament Will Be Started Shortly and Team Picked.

To-night, at 7.30 o'clock, will be held the first regular meeting of the Chess Club of McGill University. As quite a number of students have already stated their intention of being present, a large attendance is expected. Those who take interest in the game of chess will realize that by becoming members of this club they will find no better means of developing and improving their playing.

An interesting programme, which will affect both beginners and advanced players, has been drawn up by the executive. Part of this programme consists in the placing of a team to represent McGill in the City Chess League. As some talented players were unearthed last year as a result of the successful tournament, in addition to new material which we hope to discover amongst the new members, we are sure of placing a strong aggregation of players in the league. Another feature of the programme for the coming year will be a chess game between students and professors. As a number of professors are ardent supporters of chess, we look forward to a highly interesting contest, not to speak of the joy which should attend the student on defeating a professor.

In order that the executive may be able to select the team in the shortest time possible, a tournament will be started immediately. The captain of the team is H. S. Jordan. As his only means of ascertaining the worth of a player is by the latter's knowledge and ability, he wishes all new as well as former members to attend the meeting to-night at the Union. Owing to the shortage of chess sets supplied by the Union, which state has been promised to be immediately remedied, we ask all those who can, to confer a favor by bringing with them their own chessmen and boards.

AN UNRIVALLED OPPORTUNITY

A person is simply nowhere in this world who cannot exchange his original and individual ideas with his fellowmen. To some a fluent pen or a magnetic power of oratory is naturally given; others can develop either by labor and diligence. But the great majority of men, and this applies equally to college men, are neither born with nor acquire any convincing form of expression. They are thus deprived of what would prove to be a great influence in their future careers.

If there is anything that college should do, it is to fire men with an ambition to lift themselves from the mire of mediocrity, and having thus fired them, to supply them with the special training necessary. Whether McGill performs the former duty well, is not our business here to enquire, but she does supply at least in part the means to the latter end, in the form of the Literary and Debating Society.

The "Lit" is almost as old as the University itself. Our greatest graduates have been its active members. They valued and took advantage of the special training thus afforded. Now, we who are still at college are about to have the same opportunity when early next month, the "Lit's" programme for the year will begin.

Whether we take advantage of it or not, will concern ourselves alone. Everyone will not do so, for, after all, of ten virgins only five were wise.

THE MANITOBA ENTRY

The announcement that a track team would be sent to Toronto from Manitoba University to compete in the Intercollegiate Field and Track Sports came as welcome news to the students of the East. College sport has been hampered in Canada because of the lack of competition from sufficiently large universities, and the addition of some new clubs to the Intercollegiate Union should cause more interest to be taken in athletic activities.

It is possible that a yearly competition might be arranged between the East and West that would rival in interest the present contests between the large eastern universities. The reports from the prairie provinces would intimate that the colleges are growing steadily and, even at the present time, are of sufficient size to threaten the superiority of their older sisters.

Of course, the expenses entailed in conducting a regular series of events is very large and will be one of the main obstacles to be overcome before plans can be proceeded with. It is enough, however, that a start has been made and it is only a matter of time until a more pretentious programme will be arranged.

SPLENDID SCORES MADE AT SHOOT

Rifle Association Meet Last Saturday Showed Good Results.

A most successful shoot was held by the Rifle Association at Pointe aux Trembles on Saturday. The weather conditions were perfect, and considering the fact that the club has not yet got into its stride, some excellent scores were made in both application and time practices at the two hundred yard range. There is some very promising material, and the executive are confident that should satisfactory arrangements be made with the other universities, McGill would register no mean score in an intercollegiate meet.

Pending information from Ottawa, and advices from Queen's and Toronto, upon which word the fate of an intercollegiate meet hangs, arrangements are being made for inter-year shoots, for which it is hoped some trophy will be available.

Post-war reorganization of course presents unusual circumstances, and the Rifle Club has been faced with its share of the peculiar difficulties attached to bringing an association back to its pre-war standard. To accomplish this end the hearty co-operation of all members is essential. There is undoubtedly marksmanship still latent in the University; Saturday's shoot showed that even the inexperienced with a little coaching can run up creditable scores. Membership is growing rapidly, but the club still has room for a few more enthusiasts, and the executive would be glad to hear from any men interested, even though they have not attended the first shoots of the association.

The best five scores made on Saturday are as follows:
 200 Yards—Prone—App. and Rapid.
 Possible 40.

Mooney, R. B., Sci. '21 32
 Emmons, W. F., Med. '23 29
 McNutt, E. K., Sci. '22 27
 Jackson, C. H., Sci. '21 24
 McClellan, A. M., Med. '24 19

Weather permitting, another shoot will be held on Tuesday afternoon, provided enough men signify their willingness to attend. Watch tomorrow's "Daily" for full particulars.

Oct. 21, 1920.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Sir,
 I do not know who is responsible for this morning's letter complaining of Western Club stagnation, nor do I care particularly. Such an outburst does not influence in the slightest the plans of the executive, nor is such a letter necessary to "stir to life" McGill's foremost Sectional Club.

If our verdant friend had taken the trouble on arrival to read a notice which has been posted in the Union and in Strathcona Hall since September 29th, he would have found that the Western Club was the first sectional club to show signs of revival this session. He would have found there an invitation to get in touch with the president, and from the president he would have received some interesting information.

He would have found that four members of the club executive, including the vice-president and secretary, are Senior Medical Students, whose session did not commence until October 19th, and who, until that date, were some thousands of miles from Montreal. He would have found that travelling eastward with them were some fifty others without whose support the club had no intention of commencing activities. He would have found that in spite of the fact that there were only two members of the executive in the city to make any plans, the Western Club was the first to apply to the Students' Council for a dance this year.

Further, if he had taken the trouble to read his "Daily" during the first week of publication, he would have found that the Western Club was the first sectional club to betray its existence through that medium.

I do not wish in any way to belittle the activities of the other sectional clubs, or to unduly exalt those of the Western Club. I do not wish this to be regarded merely as an answer to "Westerners' letter, for I doubt if he merits even passing notice. I do not particularly care whether "Westerners" themselves consider his question answered or not. But I do want to correct any false impressions which such a letter might produce in the minds of other Western men to whom the club looks, this year as before, for hearty co-operation, in order that it may have a successful session.

Faithfully yours,

ROBT. S. O'MEARA,
President Western Club.

RUGBY PRACTICE.

Saturday afternoon saw the first turnout of the Dentals for Rugby practice on the Old Campus. Much progress was made, two full teams being present. The tooth-extractors intend to make a bold bid for admission to the Inter-Faculty League, and to this end will hold another practice this afternoon at 1.30.

A cripple may catch a hare.

A good cause needs help.—French Proverb.

Be cautious what you say, of whom and to whom.—Fielding.

He that buildeth castles in the air will soon have no land.

Henceforth this rule will be strictly adhered to by the executive of the club.

WATER POLO.

At 5.30 p.m. this afternoon the McGill Water Polo team will hold its last practice before the M.A.A.A. game next Wednesday.

MARITIME CLUB.

Will the following men, members of the executive of the Maritime Club, meet at 5 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 26th, in Strathcona Hall:
 L. H. Webster
 E. B. Chandler
 R. V. Ward
 A. R. Lawrence
 J. T. McIntosh
 D. McKean
 J. C. Simpson.

As the season's programme of activities will be drawn up at the meeting, it is important that the above mentioned men be present. In the report of the re-organization of the Maritime Club in Thursday's "Daily," the name of E. B. Chandler, Med. '21, the newly-elected vice-president of the club, was inadvertently omitted.

WRESTLING PRACTICE.

There will be a wrestling practice at 5.15 p.m. to-day in the Union. Men are asked to come prepared for work.

DINNER HELD BY THE OLD SCOUTS' CLUB

Success Attends First Function Of the Club.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST

The Club Will Have An Active Programme This Session.

On Saturday night last the Old Scouts' Club of McGill held its opening function of the session. This took the form of a dinner at the Union, at which were present all the regular members of the club and also Mr. Lordy, Mr. Russell Paterson and Mr. Thomas, leading men in Montreal Scout circles. The guest of the evening was Mr. Stiles, of Ottawa, the Dominion Secretary of the Boy Scouts' Association.

On the conclusion of a very excellent dinner, Mr. Amaron, the president of the club, gave a brief outline of the origin and objects of the club. As he pointed out, the club is a unique one among college activities, nor has it at present a parallel organization in any other university. Its aims are threefold. First to keep old scouts interested in and in touch with the movement. Second, to hold functions of a social nature. Third, to afford active assistance to the scouts of Montreal.

After this brief address by the president, each member of the club rose in turn and introduced himself to the others. It was found that there were present men from every part of the Dominion (including even the Maritime Provinces) and one or two from England.

Mr. Russell Paterson then announced to the club the starting at McGill of a course of training for those interested in Scout work. This course, which starts on November the third, will include lectures on matters of a general social service nature concerning boys, and on matters which apply particularly to the Boy Scout Movement. The work will be divided into theoretical and practical sides, and it will be of great value to all those who are interested in boys in general and Boy Scouts in particular.

Finally, Mr. Stiles rose to address the club. He first congratulated the club on its existence, and drew attention to the fact that it was the only organization of its kind. He emphasized its importance to the Scout Movement as a moral backing, and said that there was a need for well-trained college men who would make Scout work their life's career. He then made several suggestions of activities which the club might adopt and which will be of great value to the executive in formulating a programme.

In conclusion, he dwelt on the duty which every Canadian owes to Canada. He expressed this well when he said that there was a particular piece of work for each and every man to do, and if he did not do it, it would probably never be done, and Canada would be the loser.

Mr. Stiles' speech went home, and he was loudly applauded. In thanking him, the president said that his suggestions would be of great value to the executive in guiding the activities of the club, which in this, the first year of its existence, intends to make its influence felt in many ways.

The evening was concluded by the McGill yell.

A. C. L. DEFEAT SCIENCE 12--0

Enthusiasm Shown In First Game Of Inter-Faculty Series.

Saturday noon the Old Campus was the scene of a good exhibition of Rugby. The game was between the Faculty of Science and the combined Faculties of Arts and Law. During the first half of the match, the Arts team found their opponents easy material to work against, for within seven minutes from the start, Amaron, of second year Arts, made a spectacular rush through the Science lines, scoring a well-deserved touch. Buller Rutherford then converted the ball. Towards the end of the second quarter, "Buller" secured another touch after a piece of difficult maneuvering, and, with the rouge of Amaron, brought the total score to 12 points.

During the last half of the game the Science players showed better combination and team work, which held the other team in check.

MED. UNDERGRAD. MEETING.

The opening meeting of the Medical Undergraduate Society will be held this evening at 8.15, in the New Medical Building. All Medical students are invited to attend.

Music and refreshments will form part of the evening's programme.

M.A.A.A. TO PLAY MCGILL WEDNESDAY

Water Polo Season To Open Wednesday.

RIVALS MEET.

McGill Team This Year Is Strongest For Years.

The opening game of Water-Polo in the Montreal City League will be held on Wednesday night next when McGill meet M.A.A.A. at the Central Y.M.C.A. tank. This game between the two favorites for the titular honors should prove an interesting exhibition well worth the time and trouble of McGill students to attend. It will also give a good opportunity to forecast the result of the Intercollegiate contests to be held this winter.

McGill is particularly fortunate this year in her polo team. According to the experts, McGill has the finest team in her history. Gazing down the line-up it will be seen that never has a finer aggregation represented McGill. George Vernot, the Canadian Swimming Champion, who this summer represented Canada in the Olympic Games at Antwerp, is playing on the forward line, and going as strong as ever. Last year he played with the Montreal Swimming Club. Harold Fisk, the president of the McGill Swimming Club, and a member of last year's team, is another bulwark of strength. The forward line is the strong point in the team, but the back division is by no means weak, in fact, is the equal of any other back division in the league. Roy Foss is a certainty for the position of guard, but the other guard position is as yet vacant. Les Parsons, who last year held this position, has been unable to turn out on account of playing on the Senior Rugby team. Whether he will occupy the place later in the season is doubtful. However, there are other men of almost equal merit from whom to fill the coveted position, Owens being perhaps the most probable choice. In goal is the staunch Curly Walters, who last year occupied the nets in the Intercollegiate matches. With an exceptionally strong forward line, an able pair of guards, a seasoned goalkeeper, and a good supply of spares, among whom are "Bib" Lashley, Bastable, Wade, Laidley and Braker, the McGill sextette is an aggregation dangerous to any opponents they may meet.

M.A.A.A. are, however, a team which can by no means be despised. In their line-up are included such men as Frank McGill, the famous "submarine" player, Bobby Logan and George Hodgson. They are picked by many to win the City Championship, and may at all times be counted upon to make things interesting for the Red and White squad.

Fisk, the president of the Swimming Club, has arranged with "Teedles" Thompson, the leader of the "Thundering Thousand," to bring out his well-trained company of rooters to cheer on the Red and White poloists at next Wednesday's game. Just as with any other college team, rooters are a great aid. Ample accommodation is provided for all, and it is important that a crowd of McGill supporters be present to cheer on the team to victory. As before stated, this game is an important one of the season, since the Winged Wheelers are expected to be McGill's chief adversaries in the coming league race. In the past the polo team has received little support from the majority of McGill men, and it is fully time that they should get the support to which they are entitled.

The final practice of the team before the game will be held this afternoon at the Central Y.M.C.A. tank at 5.30. The final line-up will probably be announced after to-day's work-out. They will be ready to commence the season with a notable victory with the help of the "Thundering Thousand." Remember this important fixture next Wednesday night and turn out to cheer the Red and White squad to victory.

Confidence cannot be won in a day.

OFF SIDES

After the close game of last Saturday it is a foregone conclusion that there will be a record crowd attend the game at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on November 6, when the two rival teams clash in the deciding game for the 1920 championship. If McGill wins a play-off will be necessary, while if Varsity duplicates its victory of last week-end the honors for the season will go to Toronto.

It was a goodly band of rooters which supported the team at Toronto and all are convinced that when the two squads meet here in two week's time the Red and White will turn the trick on Laddie Cassels' aggregation.
A little more polishing up and then we can all look forward to a play-off at Ottawa.

Toronto certainly had plenty support throughout the game. More than 3000 cheering undergraduates gave the Blue and White squad all the morale that was necessary to win the match. The parade of 2000 rooters, wild with the victory after the game indicated that Varsity is out this year with the full support of the student body in its fight for championship honors.

The rooting of the 500 fair co-eds, added greatly to the effect of the club. The ladies entered into the cheering with a vim and caused great amusement with several of their own special yells given independently of the male section of the rooters.

That the fine spirit engendered on the rugby field at McGill is not lost when the students graduate from the University was amply demonstrated on Saturday when crowds of grads. came up to the Queen City to root for the Red and White. The King Edward Hotel in the morning was a scene of many happy re-unions of former class-mates and friends.

Dr. J. M. Elder, Dr. George Kennedy, "Chuck" Waterous, Buster Reid, "Pep" Paisley and many other former rugby stars and supporters of the club were present to add their bit in helping the team along in its fight against the Blue and White brigade.

Charlie Gage, former Varsity rugby captain, and after a marked player by McGill teams, appeared in a new role on Saturday, when acting as head-lineman, he had an argument with Referee Gall on the question of yards for McGill. Gage claimed Mc-Gill had made yards on one occasion and when the referee ruled to the contrary, Gage took a trip out on the field and pressed his decision further, but to no avail.

Several of the Queens players were up to witness the match and in talking over prospects for next Saturday's match here between the McGill squad and the Presbyterians stated that the Tri-color were coming down prepared to give the Red and White a tough battle. Several changes have been made in the Queens line-up which has added materially to the strength of the team.

McGill will be considerably stronger in the remaining games than it has been all season. Besides playing on its own field the Red and White squad ought to be in better condition as regards injuries than in the past month. Baillie played stellar rugby on Saturday but should be in even better shape next week, while it is learned that Cope is recovering from the knock he received in the shoulder and will be able to be out at practice again shortly.

Wallace and Geordie Ross alternating at quarter improving marvelously as time adds to their experience and on their showing yesterday the key position in the remaining games will not give the same concern as it has in the past.

Coach Shaughnessy has had a hard time this season to develop a squad out of many inexperienced players, in which he was not assisted to any extent by good-fortune for injuries to players has kept the roster weak.
Still the showing made by the team on Saturday speaks volumes for the manner in which the redoubtable Shag has met and overcome the difficulties that have faced the squad.

ONE HUNDRED MEN WANTED WEDNESDAY

At General Meeting Of E. T.
Club.

SHORT MEETING.

Matters Of Vital Importance
Will Be Discussed.

Posters in the various buildings of the University and around the campus call the attention of Eastern Townships men to a general meeting of the E. T. Club to be held in the Union at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Members and prospective members cannot too keenly realize the importance of this meeting. Upon its success depends the triumph of the organization, while its failure will in all probability spell disaster to the plans of the executive. The programme for the year, announced last week through the columns of the "Daily," is an extensive and ambitious one, and as such requires undivided and continued support.

While each of the minor social functions projected, of itself involves comparatively insignificant financial outlay, the ensemble will draw heavily on the funds of the club. To meet this drain, the treasury needs revenue. Its only source of income is the membership fee of the club, two dollars a year. A membership of at least seventy-five will not leave any surplus at the end of the year, when all bills have been met. The dances and the dinner, the big events of the club term, will have to be paid for by special levy as they occur.

The financial aspect of the situation is stressed, because it is the most important point at present. With funds, the executive can definitely plan a series of worth-while evenings later on. Without funds, there is no use building castles in the air.

As regards the amount of time which will be exacted from every member of the club, there seems to be considerable anxiety among E. T. men lest the executive make unreasonable demands on the students. After this general meeting, the only time members will be expected to devote to the club will be the actual duration of the functions, in all six or seven evenings during the year. And these functions will be so distributed that they will come during slack periods in the academic session, and on evenings, where possible, before light days at college. Of course, if it should prove necessary, there may be called a general meeting of the club at any time, but it is unlikely that this will happen except at the end of the year, when the executive makes its final report.

In view of the rather small Eastern

FINAL WEEK'S WORK FOR TRACK TEAM

All Men In Condition For Friday's Meet.

The Track team will enter on the last period of its training to-day.
The intercollegiate track meet will take place in Toronto on Friday, so that there remains only three days in which to practise before the trip is made to the Queen City.

The team is in good condition at the present time, and, if they are favored with good weather this week, should be at the top of their form when they meet the representatives of the other colleges. It is likely that the work-outs this week will be on sufficiently heavy to keep the men in condition.

There will be representatives of five colleges in the meet this year, as compared with three last year, and the Red and White squad will have to work at top speed to win the championship again. It is certain, that if any of the other colleges should win the cup this year, they will have one of the best teams that has been seen in Canada for some time.

McGill has all her last year's point winners at work again, and they are all determined to fight hard to win again. Many of them have improved during the past year and expect to better their performances. At any rate, they will all be in the proper shape to do their best.

The performances in the trials during the past few weeks have been encouraging. The reports of the trials at the other colleges show that they have good aggregations of men ready for the meet. With such a large amount of good talent entered in all of the events, it will not be surprising if several of the records which have been standing for some time should be bettered at the meet.

Townships registration, there is an added moral obligation on the men to take an interest in the club. Other organizations have vast numbers of students to draw from, and require less keen interest from each man.

Every man who is or has been a resident of the English counties on the South Shore, or who has attended one of the English High Schools in the Province outside the cities of Quebec and Montreal is welcome to membership. If anyone is not sure about his status under these conditions, let him come to the meeting anyway, and his questions will gladly be answered. The meeting will not last more than one-half hour, at the most, and it will not be hard for undergraduates to attend.

The executive desires to call the attention of the club to the fact that one of the members, W. Ginn, Arts '23, is ill in the Royal Victoria Hospital, and to request that as many as possible call on him. He will in all probability be discharged Wednesday or Thursday.
